

Schools in Britain (England)

Live and learn. (Век живи, век учись).

Britain (England) has got a very interesting system of education. There are some state schools in England. They are primary schools and secondary schools.

British boys and girls begin to go to school at the age of 5. They draw pictures, sing songs, play games and listen to the stories and tales.

British children begin to read and write when they enter infant school.

Boys and girls have many interesting school subject.

They are History, English, Geography, Mathematics, Art, Music, Sport, Computing and Cooking.

Boys and girls study at junior schools for four years.

Then they take their examinations and enter secondary school.

There are two types of secondary schools in England. They are: grammar school and comprehensive schools.

English boys and girls go to a secondary school from 11 till 16 years old. They don't go to school on Saturdays and Sundays.

There are many private schools in England. Boys and girls don't often study together at these schools.

Independent and preparatory schools are private schools too. They often prepare pupils for public schools for money. Teachers at private schools pay personal attention to each pupil.

It is possible to enter the best English Universities after leaving public schools. After finishing grammar schools public have a good education and may continue to study in colleges or universities.

Pupils have school uniforms in England.

It is an old tradition in the country. A boy`s uniforms consists of a special suit, a school cap, a tie and blazer. A girl`s uniform consists of a hat, a coat, a skirt and a blouse. Usually their uniform is dark.
